FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

This Father's Day, Give Dad the Chance to be First on the Floor with the New Trainfest PrimeAccess Ticket

MILWAUKEE — Trainfest, America's largest operating model railroad show, has a new ticket option designed especially for adults who want to enjoy extra time at this year's event. The new PrimeAccess ticket allows entry into Trainfest starting at 8 a.m. Nov. 10, one hour before the doors open to the general public.

The 47th annual Trainfest is set for 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Nov. 10-11 at Wisconsin State Fair Park.

"The PrimeAccess ticket is Trainfest's way of offering something extra to modeler railroad hobbyists, especially those who want more time on the show floor on the first day of the event — or those who don't like waiting for the doors to open," says Jeff Marker, Trainfest spokesman.

PrimeAccess tickets are available online at Trainfest.com. The $17 ticket price includes admission for the full day on Saturday of Trainfest. PrimeAccess ticketholders arriving between 8 a.m. and 9 a.m. will need to enter Trainfest through the Expo Center's North Gate.

General admission tickets are also available online and at various hobby shops. Visit Trainfest.com for more information.
